

Innoshima Bridge

The Innoshima Bridge is a suspension bridge spanning a total length of 1,270 meters between Mukaishima Island and Innoshima Island. Motorized bicycles, bicycles and pedestrians share the same entrance and exit.

Mukaishima Island side entrance and exit
(Entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Innoshima Island side entrance and exit
(Entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Ikuchi Bridge

Ikuchi Bridge is a cable-stayed bridge spanning a total length of 790 meters between Innoshima Island and Ikuchi Island.

Motorized bicycles, bicycles and pedestrians share the same entrance and exit, but the track splits into an motorized bicycle track and a bicycle and pedestrian track partway through.

Innoshima Island side entrance and exit
(Entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Ikuchi Island side entrance and exit
(Entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Tatara Bridge

Tatara Bridge is a cable-stayed bridge spanning a total length of 1,480 meters between Ikuchi Island and Ohmishima Island.

Motorized bicycles, bicycles and pedestrians share the same entrance and exit on the Ikuchi Island side, but the track splits into an motorized bicycle track and a bicycle and pedestrian track partway through.

Ikuchi Island side entrance and exit (entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Ohmishima Island side entrance and exit (entrance and exit to motorized bicycle track)

Ohmishima Island side entrance and exit (entrance and exit to bicycle and pedestrian track)

Ohmishima Bridge

The Ohmishima Bridge is an arch bridge spanning a total length of 328 meters between Ohmishima Island and Hakata Island.

On the Ohmishima side, there entrance and exit for motorized bicycles and the entrance and exit for bicycles and pedestrians are different, but on the Hakata Island side, motorized bicycles share the same entrance and exit with bicycles and pedestrians.

Ohmishima Island side entrance and exit
(Entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Hakata Island side entrance and exit
(Entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Hakata-Ohshima Bridge

The Hakata-Ohshima Bridge is a bridge spanning a total length of 1,165 meters between Hakata Island and Ohshima Island.

On the Hakata Island side, motorized bicycles, bicycles and pedestrians share the same entrance and exit, but the track immediately splits between an motorized bicycle track and bicycle and pedestrian track.

On the Ohshima Island side, the entrance and exit for motorized bicycles and that for bicycles and pedestrians are separate.

Hakata Island side entrance and exit

Ohshima Island side entrance and exit (motorized bicycle entrance and exit)

Ohshima Island side entrance and exit (entrance and exit to bicycle and pedestrian track)

Kurushima-Kaikyo Bridges

The Kurushima-Kaikyo Bridges are a series of suspension bridges spanning a total length of 4,105 meters between Ohshima Island and Imabari.

On the Ohshima Island side, motorized bicycles, bicycles and pedestrians share the same entrance and exit, but the track splits between an motorized bicycle track and bicycle and pedestrian track partway through. On the Imabari side, motorized bicycles, bicycles and pedestrians share the same entrance and exit, but the track immediately splits between an motorized bicycle track and bicycle and pedestrian track.

Ohshima Island side entrance and exit (entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

Imabari side entrance and exit (entrance and exit to motorized bicycle, bicycle, and pedestrian track)

